"HURRY UP."

The words came harshly from the stage manager; an impatient audience are awaiting the next act, and she who has fainted takes the leading part. This is "a peep behind the scenes," and a sight familiar to the "green-room" of every theatre. "Has she worked too hard, or been careless of her health?"

Actresses, singers, and others in the profession, do not always think; they rush into the tide of popularity, regardless of all save fame and fortune. How often we read of some favorite actress—"Ill in London, nervous prostration, etc." We have the cure of hundreds of such cases on record. Send stamp for "Guide to Health," a beautiful illustrated book.

A STRONG TIDE.

Finding of the Court of Inquiry.

HALIFAX, Sept. 27. The decision of the court of inquiry held here into the loss of the steamer Ulunda in the Bay of Fundy on Aug. 26 was rendered to-day.

The court found that the primary cause of the disaster was the vessel being set southeast on a course by a tide or current which was stronger than the master allowed for, and that no precaution to verify the position of the vessel by casting lead was taken.

If sounding had been taken when it was expected Briar island foghorn would have been heard, it might have given ample warning, and the disaster might have been averted.

The court suspended the captain's certificate for three months from the date of the stranding.

COMMITTEE INVESTIGATION

Of the Charges Preferred Against House Postmaster Wheat.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. The House Committee on Accounts to-day began an investigation into the charges preferred against Postmaster Wheat of the House in the resolution introduced by Mr. Enloe.

The charges are in effect that Mr. Wheat required a contractor who carried the mails from the House to the post-office to pay him $150 a month from the contract price; also that the postmaster has on his roll of employes at $100 a month a Mr. Bradley, who works in the government printing office and that Mr. Bradley pays $95 of it to Mr. Wheat's son.

The committee first

relating to the letting of the mail contract, and called Mr. Wheat to the stand to make a statement concerning it. The contract was entered into, he said, in December last, with Mr. Culbertson, at the rate of $5,000 per year, of which sum Mr. Culbertson was to give him $150 per month. Some time after the letting of the contract he learned that it was being talked of by a discharged employe as not being the proper thing. The charge subsequently appeared in the newspapers. He then talked the situation over with other persons, and came to the conclusion that the contract was a violation of law. He then wanted to give the money he had received from Mr. Culbertson back to him, but was advised that it but to the government and deposited the money and received a receipt for it. He had received no more since, from Mr. Culbertson under the agreement.

Did Not Belong to Him,

Replying to Mr. Enloe, the postmaster said that he had consulted the clerk of the House, Representative Caswell, the Speaker and others about the matter. He was asked if his son Walter had not gone to the contractor, Mr. Culbertson, telling him there was likely to be an investigation, and asked him to put the $750 in the hands of a third party. He declared he knew of no such conversation.

Subsequently, the contract was taken away from Mr. Culbertson and given to a Mr. Dalsh at $400 per year. In answer to a question as to how he had come to at $5,000 per year, witness said that when he first came to Washington the office was new to him, and he simply had the contract of the previous year copied, as he supposed it was all right. He also found that his appropriation allowed for this purpose was $5,000 a year.

Mr. Wheat said further that a number of persons had spoken to him concerning the perquisite of $150 per month before the contract was entered into, but their names he did not recall.

Harry Culbertson, the contractor who carried the mails, was then sworn and identified the contract. He had carried the mails for Mr. Dalton, the former postmaster, for six years previous to December last. He had received as compensation $5,000 per year. Witness declared that he had not made similar previous payments of $150 per month to the postmaster. He explained how it was that the present transaction came about. Mr. Wheat had asked him to come to his room. Mr. Wheat asked him at first for $200 per month in Return for the Contract.

Witness said he could not give him that, but made a counter proposition to give him $150. This he said would require him to do the work at starvation price.

A Mr. Dillon was called in as a witness to the affair. He did not pay any part of his contract money to any person during the six years of Postmaster Dalton's administration. In reply to a member of the committee, witness said that he was Dalton's father-in-law. In reply to further questions, he said that after he had paid the money five months he asked to be allowed to keep the $150 for one month to buy harness, etc.

Witness said he had paid the money to Mr. Wheat's son Walter. One day when it was apparent that an investigation was probable, Wheat's son came to him and sought to have the money ($750) handed over temporarily to a third person, but this was not done.

He had been assistant to Dr. Stafford for about six years, and was studying for the medical profession.

WHERE THE HUSBAND REVOLTS.

An involuntary respect for a neat housekeeper always arises in the breast of a man. A home may be a humble one; its inmates may be poor, but if clean and neat, it is preferable to one wherein dirt abounds. 'Tis hard to hold a husband's affection with dirt, and perhaps this is one of the reasons why housekeepers take so readily to that best of all soaps, the famous Brussels. It's economical.

Miss Lue Salley, of Fairfield, is spending a few days visiting friends in this city.

Miss E. M. Jones, who has been on a visit to Boston, returned on the boat Saturday.

Mr. Leander Leach, of Boston, formerly of this city, is visiting friends here for a short time.

Mr. Fred D. Wyman has returned from Foxcroft, where he has been spending a short vacation.

Post-master Spurling, who has been confined to the house for some time, remains the same, no change in his condition being visible.

Tax Collector Barstow has collected this year $24,800 of the taxes and $19,000 of this was paid in before the time for allowing the discount expired.

Rev. G. A. Perkins and wife, of Boxboro, Mass., are visiting at the residence of Mrs. Perkins' brother, Mr. H. R. Farrington, on North Main street.

Miss Jennie Young went to Camden on Saturday's boat and returned yesterday in company with Miss Minnie Young, who has been spending her vacation at her home in Camden.

Mr. A. H. Hinman is making improvements to the entrance to his stable by tearing up the old platform and filling in with gravel, the whole to be concreted as soon as it is sufficiently settled.

Sparks, Wentworth & Woodbury are at work on D. Sargent's Son's new office, putting in hot water heating apparatus. There will be a radiator in each room of the building, upstairs and down.

Work on the pulp mill is progressing steadily, though slowly, the frame of the wood preparing room being all in place and partly boarded in, while part of the new machinery ordered has already arrived.

The painters are at work on the new barkentine Thomas J. Stewart, putting the paint on the bottom of the vessel. The work will now proceed more rapidly as the vessel is to be launched the coming month, some time after the fifteenth.

The young ladies who are interested in card parties are making preparations for a jolly winter in Brewer and as a preliminary move have organized a whist club and will cultivate their memory during the cold weather as much as possible.

The electric light crew have commenced to erect the poles which are to carry the power to South Brewer. The poles have been distributed along the line and in most instances the holes are ready for their erection. They are to be thirty-five feet long.

Mr. Charles Swett, who has been spending his vacation in Boston, returned home on Saturday's boat. He was accompanied as far as Camden by Messrs. W. C. Ryder and Hartley E. Wentworth who were to make a short stop there before proceeding homeward.

Mr. Don. H. Sargent met with rather a painful accident the other day, but manages to get around and attend to his work without much inconvenience. While walking through the mill he struck the side of his foot against a saw lying on the floor and cut quite a gash in one of his toes.

There is to be a special meeting of the City Government this evening to investigate the reason for the Parker street sewer being laid two feet and five inches above the intended grade, which, although it will act as a drain for the houses along its length, will not drain off the flat, for which purpose the sewer was laid about two years ago at much expense, there being no chance to put in cess pools. The subject of what is to be done in this very important matter will also be discussed this evening and the necessary changes will doubtless be ordered.

The funeral of the late Mrs. J. L. Paine occurred from the family residence on Wilson street, Saturday afternoon. Rev. B. B. Merrill officiated very feelingly and a quartette composed of Miss Merrill, Mrs. B. B. Merrill and Messrs. Farrington and Holbrook rendered several very beautiful selections. The bearers were Messrs. Charles E. Curtis, Charles Smith, Arthur Y. Rogers and ——— Cary. The funeral was conducted by Mr. Alpheus Robinson, and there was a large attendance of the friends and relatives of the deceased.

A Precious Disk of Glass.

ALVAN CLARK'S LATEST AND MOST PERFECT WORK.

To a chosen few, in a quiet little room at Cambridgeport, was shown for the first time the precious glass which is to be used in making a telescope that shall eclipse even the famous one now mounted at the Lick observatory in California. The gathering took place in a cellar of the residence of Alvan G. Clark, the famous telescope maker, and there were present Judge R. M. Widney, president of the University Bank of Los Angeles, Cal., and a trustee of the University of Southern California; Mr. Alvan G. Clark, his brother, George Clark; Judge Widney's son, Robert, three of Mr. Clark's assistants and a Herald reporter.

When the lid of the big box was removed, Mr. Clark tenderly lifted away the excelsior fibre which covered the precious lens. There it lay cushioned on its soft bed, and reflected back the light from the little oil lamp held at a respectful distance by a careful assistant. It was a sight for astronomical eyes to behold.

The glass measures about 10 feet in circumference, or 3 feet 4 inches in diameter. Although it is 2½ inches thick at the centre and 1½ inches at the edge, it was as transparent as a bit of thin plate glass when, carefully, it was raised on its edge in the box.

Mr. Clark's hands fondled it as he would a baby raised out of its cradle, while he murmured: "What a beauty it is, no one ever saw its like."

George Clark flecked off the particles of dust that clung to it with a soft, silk handkerchief, and touched it as lightly as a lady might her powdered cheek. Mr. Widney's eyes danced with pleasure as he glanced through its transparent thickness.

The Herald reporter touched it reverently before it was laid carefully back in its case to await its finishing process. A sigh of relief when he saw it safely reposing once more on its soft cushion and the fibre replaced. He was in a state of more or less anxiety till this was done, for the lens represents about 12 months' work already, though two or three years will be required to finish it. When it is ready for its position in the big telescope, it will represent a value of from $60,000 to $70,000. It is now insured for large sums by two of the biggest insurance companies in Boston.

Judge Widney expressed thorough satisfaction with the appearance of the glass, and said he had not the least doubt but that it would be not only the very largest, but the most perfect one ever attempted.

It is nearly five inches wider in diameter than the Lick telescope glass. Before its Parisian manufacturers succeeded in turning out this perfect specimen they had melted out dozens and dozens of others like it in size, but possessing no claims of rivalry as regarded perfection. Even this one had to be cut and recut before all the air bubbles and inequalities were carved out of it. This reduced its thickness by a couple of inches, and the further processes it will have to undergo before it is fit for its cell may reduce its present thickness very materially.

When the Lick glass was ready, it was sent away in a special car, and the cost of transportation alone amounted to $3,000.

The first process that this new and so far greatest lens ever attempted will have to undergo will be that of grinding to the proper curve. It will be placed on a mill, and made to revolve at a slow and uniform rate of speed. The finest of sharp steel instruments will cut out the surplus glass, and a smoothing machine, moving in a constantly changing curve, will be for months passing over its surface before the lens can be utilized. During this time it will be tested, perhaps hundreds of times, by the aid of a silver mirror till its proper focal power shall have been established.

Each of the processes employed in its operation is intricate and delicate. That of getting the correct focal power may, however, be considered the most interesting. On being set before the mirror a little will be made to pass through the lens and reflected back through it again from the mirror. Until all the inequalities of density in the glass are removed, the ray of light transmitted will not be perfect in shape. Back and forth the lens will have to go from the grinding and smoothing machine to the testing apparatus, until the tiny ray of light is as perfect as when it first leaves the little lamp that sends it forth.

The grinding machine is a most ingenious affair. It is worked by two cranks, one of which revolves seventeen times to the one time that its fellow moves around. This makes the lens present a constantly changing surface to that which is polishing it. Red oxide of iron is used for the grinding, and beeswax brings out the perfect polish. Even after the machines have done all their fine work it will remain for human fingers to complete the polishing process. The focal length of the telescope cannot be decided upon until the focal power of the lens has been established, but it is estimated that it will be between 56 and 60 feet. Beside being an object glass, it is also a photograph glass. The largest astronomical photograph lens previously made has been but twenty-four inches in diameter, and it is expected that the present one will accomplish unheard of triumphs in revealing wonders of the starry firmament.

Judge Widney said that through it the moon will look as if only 100 miles away, and that if there are cities or large buildings on its surface their presence will be revealed through its aid. The glass, it is thought, will also settle the question as to the supposed signals of light which the inhabitants of Mars are understood to be making to the people of the earth.

The observatory for which this new telescope is intended is to be about 12 or 15 miles from Los Angeles, on a part of the Sierra Madre mountains, known as Wilson peak. It is claimed to be a better sight for observation than the Lick observatory. It is about 6,000 feet above sea level, and is free from the mists and fogs which roll in through the Golden Gate and spoil many chances of observation with the Lick telescope.

The atmospheric conditions altogether are said to be more favorable for astronomical search than at the former place.

Mr. E. F. Spence, after whom the observatory is to be named, is a wealthy Californian. He is president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, and has given $70,000 toward the observatory. Daniel Freeman is an extensive ranchman, who has contributed $20,000 toward the same object. Judge Widney is a trustee of the endowment funds for the advancement of the liberal arts, agricultural, theological and medical branches of the University of Southern California. He has come with his family to reside for a year in Boston. His eldest son will complete his education in the Boston University, his eldest daughter will study singing in the New England Conservatory of Music and two young children will be educated at the Chauncy School.

Three locomotives, helpers to the great Dr. Schliemann in his work of excavation, are now puffing about the ruins of Troy, where once the fleet chariot of Achilles dragged the body of Hector.

The Duke of Sutherland, who is something of a musical enthusiast, has erected a large organ in the gallery of the grand hall at Stafford House, London. The instrument, which is the largest and most complete of any in private residences in England, is blown by a hydraulic engine and cost $30,000.

Captain George Mackenzie, the chess player, is dying from consumption in Manchester, where he recently took part in an international chess tournament.

Messrs. Smith and Mitchell have taken a census of the fruit trees in Los Angeles county, Cal., and find there are 10,365,375. Among the large individual farms is that owned by Mme. Modjeska.

The new baths, named after the Kaiser Wilhelm, and built from 1887 to 1890, have recently been ceremoniously opened, and are now much frequented. They are probably the finest and most complete in Europe. The baths themselves—slipper ones—are mostly of brass, in rooms elaborately furnished with reclining couches and the like; but there is the marble bath, which, with its suite of rooms, is probably the most luxurious bath in Northern Europe, and which approaches Oriental magnificence. It is of course, proportionately costly.

Three dangers now menace the traveller, tourist, and vacationist. They are climate, food, and water. To guard against them requires judgment, abstinence, and an unfailing supply of

Sanford's Ginger

Containing, among its ingredients, the best of imported ginger and the purest of medicinal French brandy. Sanford's Ginger instantly relieves cholera morbus, cramps and pains, and every summer ill, prevents indigestion, destroys disease germs in water drunk, restores the circulation, breaks up colds, chills, and simple fever, overcomes the alarming, alkaline effects of the material, contagion, and epidemic influences. No household or traveller should be without it.

Beware of cheap, worthless, and often dangerous gingers, which are urged as substitutes. Ask for SANFORD'S GINGER, with Owl Trade-mark on the wrapper, and take no other.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. A Boston lady, whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I had taken Hood's Sarsaparilla, knew what it was, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other. When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly Temperance Meeting To-night.

This evening at half past seven o'clock, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, of Ohio, will address the people of Bangor in City Hall. The meeting cannot fail to be one of much interest. Mrs Foster is one of the ablest lady orators in the country She has been untiring in her efforts to promote the cause of temperance to which work she has devoted herself for a good many years. Mrs. Foster believes that to secure the best results from organized effort on the part of the ladies in temperance work it should be kept aloof from partisan politics and this to our mind is the correct principle for a successful and permanent crusade against the traffic of the saloon. Ladies who are ready to assume the responsibilities pertaining to this noble work should not be hampered by political incumbrances. Rather make the platform broad enough for all to stand upon whether they be Republican, Democrat or whatever political faith you please, a platform in which the one central idea is to concentrate the great moral strength of the ladies of the land for the suppression of the rum curse. This is the work in which Mrs. Foster is now engaged and after her meeting here she will attend the convention at Foxcroft, September 30 and October 1st and 2d, where a State Non-Partisan Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be organized. The movement, which started but a few years ago, is growing rapidly and must necessarily commend itself to the intelligent thought of the people of our State The meeting this evening is free to the public, although an opportunity will be afforded those who desire to contribute something for the good of the cause, and the distinguished speaker should be given a most cordial reception

The Tariff Bill.

The House adopted the conference report on the Tariff bill Saturday by a vote of 152 yeas to 81 nays It now goes to the Senate where it will, without doubt, be adopted, but it is possible that a vote may not be reached before Tuesday. The House also adopted a joint resolution providing for an adjournment of Congress Tuesday

The prompt disposition of the bill in the House is a sore disappointment to the Democrats Early in the session they predicted that no tariff bill would pass this Congress, but they have seen their expectations gradually go lower in the scales until they had nothing but the hope that conferees might not be able to agree. The conferees did agree, however, and the bill has finally passed the House, will pass the Senate to-day or to-morrow, receive the signature of the President and the law go into effect October 6 Thus will the Republicans redeem their pledges to the people and give them a law that will prove most beneficial to American industries

It is a great personal triumph for Mr McKinley, the distinguished and indefatigable chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, and ought to ensure his re-election in spite of the Democratic gerrymander of the Congressional districts in Ohio. More than this it ought to ensure a Republican majority in the next House. That it would do so admits of no doubt provided the people of the entire country could exercise the untrammelled right of suffrage. The only hope of the Democracy is based upon the South where elections in many States are worse than a farce, and to this fact is due the Democratic opposition to the passage of a National Election law

Official Returns.

Complete official returns of the recent election have been received at the office of Secretary of State and the totals were given in the telegraphic columns of THE WHIG Saturday morning. These figures show the following result

Burleigh,	64,314
Thompson,	45,321
Clark, Pro.,	2,861
Clark, Labor,	1,266
Scat.,	6
Total	113,798
Republican plurality,	18,883

This is a most satisfactory showing in the State and constitutes a splendid indorsement of the principles of the Republican party, the plurality being in excess of that of the Presidential year. In this District the vote stood as follows

Boutelle,	15,829
Crosby,	11,236
Cushing,	972
Scat.,	3
Total,	28,040

Mr. Boutelle's plurality in the District is 4,593 as against 4,342 two years ago, or an increase of 251 over the Presidential year When we printed partial returns this large result was indicated, but we merely claimed "over 4,000" to be carefully within bounds.

The Third Party Vote.

A significant feature of the election returns is the falling off in the Third Party vote. A comparison of the vote in the last three elections is instructive

Third Party vote 1884,	3,968
" " " 1888,	3,109
" " " 1890,	2,981

When the Democrats made the license issue THE WHIG predicted that very few people in the State who believed in prohibition would be silly enough to place their votes where they would count in the license column practically the same as though cast for the Democratic candidates The official returns show that our faith in the intelligence of the people was well founded. Instead of the increase looked for by the Third Party leaders the vote has steadily fallen off. In this connection the Kennebec Journal well says

It has been the delight of Third Party men to compare themselves to the Free Soil and Abolition parties, and to predict for themselves a similar growth to power. They seem to utterly overlook the fact that in the history of American politics no party which has shown retrogression in the first decade has ever attained to national dominance. There was never any retrogression in the Abolition or Free Soil parties. Their course was one of continual growth and expansion till they joined with the better elements of the Democratic party in the formation of the Republican party which has been in power, with the exception of a single administration, ever since.

The Third Party has lost ground both in the Nation and in the State. Its largest vote in Maine was the first and was thrown in 1880 when N. G. Hichborn, who ran as a temperance candidate for Governor, received 4,735 votes. Since then the Third Party has had twenty-one years in which to show the people of Maine sufficient reason for its existence but not withstanding this, its vote in 1890 is 1,754 less than the first vote it ever threw as a party in Maine. There is no escape from the clear, cold logic of these figures. They prove that in twenty-one years the Third Party has failed to show the people of Maine any reason for its existence. Not only has its cause been unable to enlist new support, but it has lost a very large part of the support given it in its infancy. The reason is obvious.

The Third Party is not a temperance party and the people of the State know it. It is not even a prohibition party, but in the recent State election threw what little strength it possessed for high license. This party has been for years masquerading under false colors, but it has been unable, as is shown by the official figures, to deceive the intelligent citizens of Maine. Not only has it never done anything for temperance, but has from its first allied itself with the outspoken opponents of that principle Its strength has counted for the liquor interest at every election since its organization. It is in a state of rapid decline, because it does not contain within itself the true elements of growth. If the present rate of decadence continues it will only be a few years before it will drop entirely out of our politics. The recent election has shown to the world, and shown emphatically, that the people of Maine are thoroughly aware of the fact that the Republican party is the only true temperance party in the State.

Special Notices.

Senseless Retort.

There is an old and senseless retort which the enemies of life insurance often employ, to the effect that they do not care to play a game in which they have to die to win Others (quite invariably the unthrifty and improvident) declaim against the plan because, as they say, "it does me no good, I don't see why I should spend money for something that I can't handle and profit by myself." Others "What do I care for them? Let them grow up and take care of themselves, as I had to." All this sort of talk reminds us of the old man who was busy in planting and grafting an apple tree, when some one rudely asked Why do you plant trees, if you cannot hope to eat the fruit of them?" With great calmness he raised himself up, and, leaning on his spade, replied: "Some one planted trees before I was born, and I have eaten the fruit; I now plant for others, that the memorial of my gratitude may live when I am dead and gone."—Anon.

CONGRESSIONAL.

House Resolution Appropriating Money for the Purchase of Nickel Ore Passed by the Senate.

Conference Report on the Tariff Bill Adopted in the House, 152 to 81.

Also a Resolution for Adjournment Tuesday.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. Mr. Morgan introduced a bill in the Senate to-day, which was referred to the Committee on Public Lands, to forfeit the lands granted to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company from the portion of its line between Bismarck in North Dakota and Walula in Oregon. He also asked that the lobbyists who have been here in behalf of the Northern Pacific railroad be suspended from getting their fees, and he thought that the best way to do that for the Senate, and House to take up the subject of the forfeiture of that land grant.

The House joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to purchase nickel ore or nickel matte for use in the manufacture of steel armor was taken up, and Mr Cameron's amendment offered yesterday was disagreed to.

Mr. Platt did not approve the appropriation of a million dollars now, when Congress would be in session again in two months.

Mr. Hale said it was necessary to have the appropriation made now in order to get control of the supply of nickel. It would go elsewhere if it was not purchased now.

Mr. Gorman said that he had opposed the joint resolution yesterday, but he was assured that its passage was an absolute necessity in the interest of the public service, and he was bound to accept that statement.

The joint resolution was passed.

The Senate resumed consideration of the House bill to amend "an act to prohibit the importation and migration of foreigners and aliens under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, its Territories and the District of Columbia," the pending question being on Mr. Plumb's amendment offered yesterday, providing that the act shall not apply to any organization of musicians or orchestras. The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Hoar moved an amendment that it shall not apply to teachers. The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Sherman sent to the clerk's desk and had read the report made by him in favor of the bill of 1864, to encourage immigration, which Mr. Cockrell had denounced yesterday, giving the reasons why the bill should pass. Those reasons, Mr. Sherman said, were strong and sufficient reasons at that time. He declared himself, however, opposed to the admission of such classes of immigrants as would lower the grade of American citizenship.

Amendments were offered by Mr. Evarts and Mr. Hiscock to section 3 of the bill, which applies to masters of vessels bringing immigrants to the United States Mr. Evarts inquired how the master of a vessel who took in 1,200 emigrants at Bremen or Hamburg was to know how any of them came within the prescribed conditions.

Unless Congress wished to stop immigration, the word "wilfully" should be substituted for the word "knowingly" in the third section, and he moved to amend the section accordingly. The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Evarts also moved to strike out of the third section the words "the fact of such bringing or landing shall be prima facie evidence of such knowledge." Agreed to—Yeas, 35; nays, 10.

The hour assigned to the calendar having expired the bill went over without action. Mr. Blair remarked that he would not call it up again, as it was not much worse than the present law.

The unfinished business was then taken up, being the Senate bill to establish an United States land court.

Mr. Frye moved to recommit the bill, and it was recommitted to the committee on private land claims.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the House bill for the adjustment of laborers workmen and mechanics arising under the eight hour law.

Mr. Blair moved (on behalf of the committee on education and labor) to amend the bill by striking out the following proviso: 'Provided further, that this act shall not be operative whenever the court shall find that such laborer, workman or mechanics performed such labor or service under any contract, express or implied, and has been paid therefor the amount agreed upon.

Mr. Dawes said that while he would vote for the bill, it would not meet the case. The committee should not have referred the claimants to the court of claims, but should have reported a bill directing the accounting officers to audit their claims and making an appropriation to pay them.

After remarks by Mr. Cullom and Mr. Stewart in favor of the amendment, several votes were taken upon it, but none of them showed the presence of a quorum.

Mr. Sherman moved to proceed to executive business, and the motion was agreed to.

At 5.15 the Senate adjourned.

House.

On the opening of the House session to-day, after some discussion, it was decided to take a vote on the conference report on the Tariff bill at 5.30 this afternoon.

Mr. McKinley made a business statement of the changes between the provisions of the House bill and the bill as it passed the Senate, and explained the provisions of the conference, practically as they are explained in the statement of the conferees.

In reference to the sugar schedule, he said that the bill as it passed the House, provided that all sugars up to and including No. 16, Dutch standard, should be admitted free, and that sugar above that color should pay four-tenths of a cent a pound. This was to compensate for the difference in the labor cost of refining in this country and in competing countries.

The Senate had stricken out No. 16 as the line of demarcation, and had inserted No. 13. Above No. 13 and up to No. 16 it had placed a duty of three-tenths of a cent a pound, and above No. 16 six-tenths of a cent. The first struggle had been over the dividing line. The Senate conferees had yielded and made sugar up to No. 16 free. Over No. 16 the duty was placed at five tenths of a cent, with an additional one-tenth of a cent on all sugars coming from countries where bounties were paid to producers.

In regard to the subject of binding twine, he expressed his opinion that the duty was too low, but he indulged the hope that some future Congress would discover the fact and apply the remedy.

Commenting upon the reciprocity provision, he said: We consented to the reciprocity provision put into our bill by the Senate, a provision which is perfectly well understood by both sides of the House. It is a declaration that, whereas, the United States has already made coffee and hides free; and now proposes to make sugar free in the interest of reciprocal trade arrangements with other countries, and with the expectation that we shall secure valuable concessions from those countries, therefore, in the event that these countries do not respond to this generosity on the part of the American Congress, the President of the United States may by proclamation declare that they have furnished us no reasonable or just reciprocal advantage, in return for our concessions, and therefore the duties fixed by this bill shall be imposed upon these articles.

We have accepted the amendment (known as the Aldrich amendment), and we indulge the hope that, in accordance with the expectation and belief of so many distinguished men all over the country, this will enable us to open up great fields for the products of our farms. We have accepted this amendment in the hope that such a result will be fully realized.

Mr. Flower, of New York, characterized the measure as a cyclone bill. The point of the bill was to so arrange it that there should be no trade between the United States and foreign countries. It would enable the manufacturers to combine and fleece the people, while the farmers would fail to find relief.

Referring to the subject of binding twine he said that while gentlemen would expatiate in the West upon the provision as being in favor of the farmers of the West, it would ruin 300,000 workingmen in New York and New England.

Mr. Peters of Kansas, while criticising certain portions of the bill, gave his adherence to its general features. He deprecated tariff agitation, and expressed the wish that a law could be enacted making it a penitentiary offense for any members to introduce a bill for the revision of the tariff during the next 20 years.

Mr. Sweeney of Iowa, while objecting to certain provisions of the measure, believed that in it the voice of the people found expression.

Mr. Dolliver of Iowa, believed that the pending bill was the most complete and national measure which has ever been presented to Congress in the whole history of the country.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Hitt of Illinois, Crane of Texas, Cutcheon of Michigan and Candler of Massachusetts. The latter said that in many particulars the bill was not in accord with his judgment, but he believed that every man had had a fair hearing, and that under no circumstances was it possible to have a Tariff bill without making concessions.

Mr. Gear of Iowa, referring to the arduous labors of the Committee of Ways and Means, said that one result of the bill was worth the 10 weary months which had been given to its consideration. For the first time in a generation, the American people would be able to put upon their tables that which had before been denied them. When the people were able to pay $1 for 20 pounds of sugar, they would recognize the great work which had been done by the first session of the 51st Congress.

After a long discussion Mr. McKinley took the floor to make the closing speech in advocacy of the bill. It was not, he said, a bill of retaliation or a bill of diplomacy; it was a bill for the United States to supply them with the necessary revenue to meet the current expenses. The committee had not discriminated in the adjustment of the tariff as to give protection to our people, defence to their industries and a compensation to make up the differences between the prices paid labor in Europe and prices paid labor on the United States. (Republican applause.) For it was the pride of this country that it paid more and better wages to its workmen than were paid anywhere else on the face of God's earth. (Applause on the Republican side.) And it was enabled to do it because the Republican party (and the old Whig party before it) had given its promise that it would impose a tariff on products that came into competition with our own labor, our own soil or our own crops.

The mere words of the gentleman from Tennessee, or of other gentlemen, were only the words of the press of England, or of the press of other countries. On this question, in opposition to this bill, Great Britain and the Democratic party were in an unholy alliance. (Applause on the Republican side.)

Was it any wonder that under the threat of the Mills bill in 1888 the National Republican convention had declared that the Democratic party served the interests of Europe and of the Democratic party and surrendered the interests of the United States. (Applause on the Republican side.) Gentlemen had said that this bill did not increase the demand for a single grain of wheat or of a pound of corn. He said to those gentlemen that when this bill became a law 50,000 men would be employed to provide the people of this country with tin plate which would be consumed by the farmer of the West.

An additional demand would be made for American workmen, and with this demand would come additional capacity to buy the products of the farms of the West. Already they had begun making tin plate in St. Louis. In anticipation of the passage of the bill, in belief that it was to pass, men were ready to invest money in this enterprise, and instead of paying $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 to the other side for our tin, we propose to make it at home. (Applause on Republican side.)

The bill, if it become a law, would put upon the free list one-half of all the products which the United States imported, the like of which was never known in any tariff bill passed by the Congress of the United States.

Under the Mills bill only 40 per cent. of foreign importations were placed upon the free list. The bill recognized the principle which was found in the Morrill act—a principle on which this country has risen to be the first manufacturing nation of the world. The gentlemen on the other side would tax the people of this country to make an income for the government; the Republican party would tax the product of other people seeking markets in the United States to supply the necessary revenues of the government. The domain of the debate had passed; the time for action had come, and he therefore demanded the previous question. (Applause on Republican side.)

The previous question was ordered—yeas, 151, nays, 79. The conference report was then agreed to—yeas 152 (the Speaker voting in the affirmative); nays, 81.

The only deviation from a strict party vote was on the part of Messrs. Coleman, Featherston and Kelly, who voted with the Democrats in the negative.

Mr. McKinley then reported from the Committee on Ways and Means a resolution providing for final adjournment on Tuesday next, and it was adopted without division.

A TRAIN HORROR.

Two Fast Mail Trains Dash Into Each Other.

Over Twenty People are Reported Killed.

PORTLAND, Oregon, Sept. 28. A serious wreck is reported from Wancanaz, Idaho, yesterday morning.

Two fast mail trains on the Ogden Short Erie ran into each other. Over twenty are reported killed.

The news comes from a gentleman who arrived at Pendleton, Oregon, to-day.

QUEER SORT OF ACCIDENT.

Cartridge Exploded Beneath the King of Servia's Carriage.

BELGRADE, Sept. 28. While the young King of Servia, accompanied by his father, ex-King Milan, was returning from a drive to-day, a cartridge exploded beneath the carriage.

The authorities allege that the explosion was purely accidental.

As far as can be learned no one was injured.

FIRE RECORD.

Incendiary Blaze at Pittsfield, Mass.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Sept. 27. Fire broke out at 1 o'clock this morning in a frame building at the rear of, and connected with, the Academy of Music block. The building was used as a repair shop by George N. Hopkins, furniture dealer, he occupying a large part of the front building.

The department prevented the spread of the flames to adjoining property, but the upper part of the building was burned off. Hopkins' stock in the front building was badly damaged by smoke, the total loss being $9,000. The insurance is about $5,000. The fire was of incendiary origin, and an investigation is to be held.

The watchman discovered a pile of blazing combustibles against the building Thursday night, just in time to save the building. This is the third fire in Pittsfield this month, all probably incendiary. Property owners are getting uneasy.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

Temporary Suspension.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 27. The Bank of Madison, Jackson, Tenn., suspended this morning. It is a state bank, with a capital of $60,000. President Whiten made an assignment of all personal property for the benefit of his creditors. The liabilities are $260,000; Assets $225,000. The suspension is temporary.

BIG BLAZE IN CHICAGO.

Fierce Fire in the Stock Yards Lights Up the Heavens.

A Loss of Over Half a Million by the Flames.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28. Fowler Bros.' packing house at the stock yards was damaged by fire this morning. Water had little effect on the grease soaked floors and the fire soon reached the tank room, where thirty-two tanks of lard were located. These exploded one after another and the boiling lard fed the flames more fiercely. The heat was so intense that the firemen were compelled to work at a distance. The packing room, 50 by 150 feet, was blazing when the firemen reached the scene. The flames spread to the cooling room adjoining, and commenced burning the carcasses of hogs hanging there. In the room were 6,089 hogs, freezing, and they were burned like oil. The blaze lighted up the entire heavens and rendered everything lighter than day. About 1,200 men and 100 girls were employed by the company. The loss is entirely covered by insurance, mostly in foreign companies. The plant was insured for $1,500,000. The buildings were divided in departments, designated by letters. Department F was totally destroyed.

The loss is divided about as follows: $125,000 on machinery; $75,000 on dressed hogs; $500,000 on sides, hams and shoulders. While part of the buildings was totally destroyed the loss is small because the buildings were cheaply constructed. Four large engines were burned. Estimates of the loss vary from $500,000 to $800,000. The exact amount will depend upon the amount of meats stored in the building and destroyed.

A CARELESS OPERATOR

Causes a Disastrous Wreck on the Baltimore & Ohio Road.

Ten Men Killed and Injured and Several Cars Smashed.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 28. A special from Zanesville, Ohio, says: About 1 this morning a most disastrous freight wreck occurred on the Baltimore & Ohio road, near Pleasant Valley. Orders were given to east and west bound freight trains to pass at Black Hand. Operator Keelty at that place, failed to deliver the order to the east bound train. Later he saw his mistake and telegraphed the despatcher here that there would be a wreck pretty soon. He left his post and has not yet been found. He is a mere boy. Both engines and a number of cars filled with oats, coke and merchandise were piled up. Eight men were killed and two injured.

FROM WASHINGTON.

News About the Capitol.

Returned to the White House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. The President and family, who have been the guests of Postmaster General and Mrs. Wanamaker since their return from Cresson, Pa., took up their abode in the White House this afternoon. The repairs have been completed.

Rate of Duty on Tin Plate.

In the abstract of the conference report on the tariff bill sent out last night, the rate of duty on tin plate until July 1 next was erroneously stated at an advance of three-quarters of a cent per pound over the rate on sheet iron. As fixed upon in the conference, the rate of duty until July 1 will be 1 cent per pound.

Pardon Denied.

The President has denied the application for a pardon in the case of Levi G. Pratt, convicted in Massachusetts of passing counterfeit money.

Ensign Drowned.

A cable message received at the Navy Department to-day from Yokohoma that Ensign H. E. Rumsey, attached to the Swatara, was drowned yesterday.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION

In a Dry House of the Winchester Company.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 28. At 10 this morning one of the dry houses connected with the Winchester Repeating Arms Company exploded with a terrific report which was heard all over the city. None was injured. The watchman, who was about 100 feet from the building, was thrown down by the shock and badly frightened. The building, which was a small one, was blown to pieces. The loss is slight, as the dry houses are cheap affairs.

FOREIGN NEWS.

A Terrible Catastrophe.

VIENNA, Sept. 27. Polish journals assert that during the recent manœuvres of the Russian army at Kovno the bridge collapsed and 400 soldiers who were crossing the bridge at the time were thrown into the water and drowned.

Insult to Germany.

BERLIN, Sept. 27. The Hanover Courier asserts that when Thompson, an official of the British East African Company, took possession of Vitu he tore down and trampled under foot the German flag and gave the natives a portrait of Emperor William to use as a target.

WHY IT IS POPULAR.

Because it has proven its absolute merit over and over again, because it has an unequalled record of cures, because its business is conducted in a thoroughly honest manner, and because it combines economy and strength, being the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" is true—these strong points have made Hood's Sarsaparilla the most successful medicine of the day. LOCAL MATTERS.

There was a full moon yesterday.

Mrs. R. A. Sjostedt, and Miss L. Sjostedt, of Woodstock, N. B., were at the Bangor House last night.

The term of court being held at Dover, for Piscataquis county, is expected to hold through this week and perhaps into the first of next week.

Good progress is being made with the paving on Central street, and it will be completed as soon as possible, as the street is much needed for travel.

Owing to the fact that the Uncle Hiram band will not arrive from Skowhegan this afternoon until 3.05 o'clock, the parade will not occur until 4 o'clock.

Hon. E. B. Mallett, of Freeport, arrived in the city yesterday. To-day, he and Dr. A. C. Hamlin will leave for the Katahdin Iron Works, for a hunting trip.

The Hammond Street society is arranging for the usual annual Autumn Leaf Excursion. When full arrangements have been made due notice will be given.

The Chautauquans will meet this evening at half past seven, at Y. M. C. A. hall, to make arrangements for the coming season. A full attendance is requested.

The hotels at the seaside resorts are now about all closed for the year. A few still remain open, however, to accommodate those who desire to remain for a time to enjoy the fall weather.

Saturday afternoon a street car on the Cottageville line in going down Main street, collided heavily with another car which was going ahead of it, the passengers being shaken up somewhat.

A Civil Service examination was held in the U. S. Custom House yesterday, under charge of Mr. William S. Washburn. Five candidates presented themselves for examination for postal service and one as copyright clerk.

The schooner Talofa, which has been trying to obtain an ice cargo in this port, since discharging her coal which she brought here, was obliged to leave here Friday night without one. She cleared for Philadelphia.

The meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary connected with the Unitarian church will be held at Memorial Hall parlors to-day at 2.30 P. M. The members of the society and all others interested are cordially invited to be present.

All young men intending to join the educational classes in bookkeeping, penmanship and vocal music, in the Y. M. C. A. rooms are invited to leave their names with the General Secretary. These classes are free to members and any young man may become a member.

A special train will be run from Old Town next Saturday evening to "Shenandoah," and special low rates have been made by the Maine Central railroad on that day from Ellsworth and Bucksport, to allow citizens of those places an opportunity to attend the "Shenandoah" matinee.

There is a fair number of vessels in port at the present time, and the greater part is engaged in taking cargoes of lumber, which is moving fairly well. It will be some time yet before the river closes, but this is not a rushing time of the year the hurry being over. The usual number of vessels visited the port during the summer.

At the last meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union Mrs. H. A. Whitman, Mrs. J. S. Patten and Mrs. Elizabeth Patten were appointed delegates to the State convention, which meets in Portland, Oct. 7-8-9. Many new auxiliaries have been organized during the year, promising a large delegation, and an interesting session is anticipated.

Sunday evening, Patrick Flynn and James Shea, a youth about seventeen years of age, had a quarrel, which resulted in Flynn's drawing a knife and stabbing Shea in the face, making quite a deep wound. A physician was at once called and attended the injured young man. Flynn was arrested by the police, and will be before the Municipal Court.

Owing to the dullness in the ice market the Rikers are not now shipping ice from Mt. Desert Ferry to which place their ice has been taken by rail from Green Lake. They have several thousand tons waiting for a favorable outlook to be shipped. At present there is no movement of any amount in the business, and but little is being loaded aboard the vessels.

The Reform Club held its first meeting of the season yesterday, in City Hall, the hall being well filled. The addresses by Prof. J. S. Sewell and Mr. Davis were strong arguments in favor of total abstinence. The singing by Miss Semple, Mrs. Morrill, Mr. Morton and Mr. Moody was excellent. Mr. Chalmers of the club presented the pledge. The club starts out under very favorable circumstances for the campaign.

One of the members of the Waltham Watch Company recently made a trip to this city on his way to Moosehead Lake on the steamer Lewiston. Soon after his return home Capt. Mark L. Ingraham, of the Lewiston, received from him a handsome Waltham watch, together with a pleasant letter expressing his appreciation of the attention shown him by the captain during the trip to this city. Capt. Ingraham, who is very popular with the traveling public, greatly appreciates the gift.

MAINE W. C. T. U. The sixteenth annual convention of the Maine W. C. T. U. will be held in Portland Oct. 7th, 8th and 9th. Reports will be read from the different local Unions throughout the State. An address will be given each evening, Tuesday, by Frances Harper, of Philadelphia, Wednesday by Miss E. U. Yates, Thursday by Mrs. Barney, of Rhode Island. An interesting feature of the meeting will be a ministerial quartette. Entertainment will be provided for delegates and a grand time is expected. It will be something to awaken a new interest in the temperance work.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. BENJAMIN TRIGGS. Saturday forenoon Mr. Benjamin Triggs, of Searsport, upon the arrival of the steamer Penobscot went on board at that port and purchased a ticket for this city. After doing so he walked up to the saloon and took a seat in one of the chairs. In a few minutes one of the passengers who was seated near by saw his head drop upon his bosom as though he had fainted. Capt. Ingraham was at once notified and hastened to the spot to render what aid he could. He found, however, that Mr. Triggs was beyond all human assistance, death having apparently been instantaneous. When the steamer arrived at Bucksport the body was taken ashore and the sad news was sent to the widow of the deceased in Searsport. The remains were taken to Searsport on the steamer Lewiston which left this port Saturday forenoon. The deceased was 35 years of age and had been an advent preacher. His death will be mourned by many.

A man named Loyt, who lives on Cumberland street, met his wife and niece on the street last evening and asked them where they were going. They answered that they were going to church and he dictatorially said that they could not. The niece begged leave to differ with him, whereupon Loyt struck her a hard blow in the face. Mrs. Loyt, meeting Officer Tracey soon afterwards, informed him of what had occurred, and he searched for Loyt, finding him on the street not long afterwards and putting him under arrest. Loyt passed the night at the station and should receive a good round sentence for his brutal action.

WENT OVER THE BLUFF. Friday afternoon as Jesse Gould, of Brownville, and another man, were driving upon a buckboard, which had a load of provisions and a camping outfit into the woods, in crossing the bridge over Blood brook the horse became frightened and began to back just after he had passed over the bridge. The men remained in the seat, and being unable to stop the animal the whole team went over the bluff into the stream below. Mr. Gould received a number of painful cuts and bruises and his companion was also somewhat injured although not so much as Mr. Gould. The horse was seriously injured by the fall upon the rocks, and if he recovers it will take some time. The provisions and camping outfit were scattered about, and mostly destroyed. It was an unfortunate accident for all concerned and the trip to the woods will have to be delayed in consequence.

THE CHILCOTHIANS. The Chilcothians have decided to continue the organization which has been of so much benefit physically to themselves, and afforded so much pleasure to those of our people who attended the drill given during the spring. This action will meet the approval of everybody as all will desire to witness the future exhibitions. Drilling will soon begin and it will be continued during the winter. It is probable that sabres will take the place of the muskets formerly used, and the next drill will be a sabre drill. The sabres will be light and easily handled, and the drill will be sure to be one of great interest. Governor Burleigh has written the Chilcothians that he very much desires to attend their next exhibition drill, and that he and his staff and other prominent State officials will surely be present, if it is possible for them to do so.

RAID ON LIQUOR SELLERS. The rum selling establishments on Hancock street and vicinity were raided by the police yesterday and quite a large quantity of liquor obtained. The sellers were called upon so unceremoniously that they did not have a chance to conceal or spill the liquor and at about all of the places visited liquor was found. The raid was participated in by all of the police both of the day and night force, and matters were lively on Hancock street for a short time. Several of the police rode to a hack to the street and the others walked there a plan having been made of the raid, and they arrived upon the scene so suddenly that the surprise was complete. Liquor was seized from the following persons: Catharine Murray, Mary Hughes, Peter Haggerty, Mrs. Haggerty, Mary Conners, Margaret Quimby, Annie B. Moran. A seizure was also made at the boarding house of Patrick J. Kenide on May street.

CLOSE TIME ENDS WEDNESDAY. Next Wednesday the sportsmen will be enabled to shoot moose, caribou and deer without molestation, as the close time is then off. Several parties of sportsmen have already left, to be in readiness for the first day's shooting, and many others will go into the woods between now and January 1st, when close time again begins. The appearance of deer moose and caribou within the bounds of civilization does not always indicate that there is a great number of them in the forests, for they are in some localities hunted so persistently that they keep on going from their accustomed places until they come out into the clearings; but there is no doubt but that there are plenty of the animals in the woods and that their number increases each year, showing the good effects of the game laws. If large game should be exterminated in Maine the citizens of the State would lose a source of considerable revenue. Venison will soon be seen in the markets, and there will be a demand for the choice steaks.

BOWDOIN'S FOOT BALL TEAM. A trainer has been engaged for the Bowdoin foot ball team, and he will soon go to Brunswick and coach the team. The men began practice at the opening of the term and the two elevens from which the college eleven will be selected play every day. A few excellent players were graduated in the class of '90, but it is expected that their places will be ably filled. The team will be particularly strong in the rush line, the men being powerful, heavy and active, and back of the line are some good runners, tacklers and kickers. Last year's team had the second heaviest rush line in the country, Dartmouth having the heaviest, and the games then played showed that there was excellent material. With the experience that has been gained a better team should be developed this year, and it is expected that that result will be attained. Bowdoin will try for admission to the New England League, and the matter will soon be decided. If admission is not obtained the team will make a tour of the different colleges playing each eleven.

HARVEST SUNDAY SCHOOL CONCERT. The harvest Sunday school concert given last evening at the First Congregational church was very interesting and the services passed off in a creditable manner. The following was the programme: Hymn, "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven"; recitation of Psalm XXIII; prayer by the superintendent; Gloria; hymn, "We Plough the Fields and Scatter"; responsive reading of Scripture passages by Mrs. Hubbard's and Mr. Davis classes and the superintendent; recitation by Katie Jellison; duet by Misses Agnes Bragg and Bertha Milliken; recitation by Miss Purington's class; hymn, "Songs of Christian Praise, God of Mercy, God of Grace"; reading by Miss Lida Towle; recitation by Mrs. Pearson's class; hymn, "Come Ye Thankful People, Come"; recitation and song by the choir; hymn, "Let us with a Gladsome Mind"; address by the pastor, Rev. Charles H. Cutler, taking the truths of the natural world, that the harvest is (1) in the seed, (2) like the seed, and (3) greater than the seed. The speaker applied them with earnestness and force to the moral sowing: we make in the conduct of our lives. The address was followed by prayer by the pastor, the singing of the hymn "Come Thou Almighty King," and the benediction. The attendance was large and the room was adorned with fruit, grain and flowers.

ANNUAL GRANGE MEETING

Of Penobscot County Pomona Grange Saturday.

The Penobscot County Pomona Grange held its annual meeting with Hampden Grange at the Town House last Saturday and elected officers as follows: E. H. Gregory, Master; W. H. Toothacre, Overseer; B. A. Burr, Lecturer; Allen Carter, Steward; Fred Sawyer, Assistant Steward; J. M. French, Chaplain; J. M. Valentine, Treasurer; Mrs. L. M. Carter, Secretary; George A. Friend, Gate Keeper; Mrs. W. H. Toothacre, Pomona; Mrs. J. M. Valentine, Flora; Mrs. E. H. Gregory, Ceres; Mrs. H. M. Wentworth, Lady Assistant Steward; Albert Hall, Chorister.

The weather early in the morning was quite discouraging, still at the usual hour for calling the meeting to order there was a good number present. After the usual opening exercises, Miss Mabel Holland, in behalf of Hampden Grange, heartily welcomed all in a well written and eloquently delivered address, and it was greeted with hearty applause at the conclusion. A member of the County Grange responded.

The officers were at once installed, in a very happy manner, by Past Master Geo. M. Holland. A class of thirteen was instructed in the fifth degree. The meeting was harmonious and pleasant throughout. Dinner was served in the Masonic dining hall. While the county organization was transacting business in the forenoon, the ladies of Hampden Grange were busily spreading the tables in the most tempting and appetizing manner with every kind of pastry and delicacy, thickly interspersed with substantial baked beans and brown bread, coffee and tea. Hampden is a good place to visit "so say all of us," for there is never any one thing lacking when they undertake to give their friends a good, hearty reception.

The usual vote of thanks was given with its full, heartfelt manifestation.

The next regular monthly meeting will be held with Enterprise Grange, Orrington.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Our Regiment," by the McDowell Company.

Those who did not attend the presentation of "Our Regiment," by the McDowell Company, at the Opera House Saturday night, missed a rare comedy treat, for it was as thoroughly enjoyable an entertainment as has been seen in this city for many a day. It was such a performance as should have packed the house, instead of drawing an audience comparatively small. The company has introduced itself to Bangor audiences in a manner which leaves very pleasant recollections, and if it again visits this city it should be greeted by an audience only limited by the size of the Opera House. The play is one of the most mirth provoking imaginable, and it was a continuous flow of amusing situations from beginning to end. Interpreted by such a well selected company it will always succeed in making as much fun as could be desired.

Mr. McDowell's "Lieut. Guy Warrener," the officer who believes that everything is all right as long as it is kept in the regiment, was extremely funny, and he appeared to most excellent advantage. The "Rev. John Talbot" of Mr. Robson could not have been better, and he is well adapted for the role. Miss Hunter's "Miss Dobinson" was characteristic of all of her very praiseworthy work, and Mrs. McDowell as "Enid Thurston," Miss Clitherow as "Maud Ellaby," and Miss Jarvis as "Olive," were very pleasing in their respective characters. The "Capt. Featherstone" of Mr. Granville, the "Mr. Ellaby" of Mr. Hight, and the "Mr. Dobinson" of Mr. Lyons met all the requirements of the roles. The military quadrille and the Highland schottische received a well deserved encore.

"Uncle Hiram."

To-night the attraction at the Opera House will be the comedy "Uncle Hiram." An excellent band and orchestra are with the company, and they with the piece itself, which contains quite a number of specialties, promise an entertaining evening. The Easton, (Pa.,) Call says:

The performance of "Uncle Hiram" last evening was all that was promised. The piece is a good, clean, healthy production, vastly superior in tone and sentiment to many of the dramas of the present day. The character of Uncle Hiram is by no means overdrawn or distorted. He is the plain and cunning Yankee farmer, the like of which can be found in every school district "down East." Mr. Woodhull certainly has studied the Yankee character, so well does he portray it. The members of the company took their parts well, especially Mr. Davenport Bebus as Robert Callington, Mr. W. C. Talbott as Arthur Murdock, and Mr. J. J. Sheridan as Senator King.

"Shenandoah."

In "Shenandoah," which will be presented for the first time in this city at the Opera House, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 3d and 4th and Saturday matinee, Mr. Bronson Howard, it is said, has contrived to dramatize a story of the war for the Union which is of great interest. The narrative of incidents and principal events related are of the battle-field The hero and heroine are separated by the lines of warfare, the heroine being a Southern girl who is in love with a Northern officer. The officer is true to his flag, true to his love, and, of course, all end happily. But before the denouement the young officer is under suspicion of having wronged the peace of his commanding general, as there is a villain in the drama who throws doubt upon a woman's honor and stabs his enemies in the back. But there also is, too, a pathetic figure introduced in the movements of a misguided young man, who wipes out the stain of his youthful crime by a daring deed for his country, which costs him his life. He is the discarded son of General Haverhill, and the father stands by the grave, little thinking it is his own son who lies upon the bier upon which his tears are falling. There are details in "Shenandoah" that are said to be most original in design and dramatic in expressed result. Mr. Howard's dialogue throughout is described as bright, forcible and telling. There are numerous light comedy scenes furnished that are an agreeable relief to the gloomy suggestions of carnage and strife. Everything possible has been done to have the production here as complete as any the play has yet received.

The City Hall Meeting.

This evening at half past seven o'clock Mrs. J. Ellen Foster will address the people of Bangor on the temperance question. Mrs. Foster is an eloquent speaker of national reputation and should have a large audience. The meeting is free to the public but those who feel disposed to aid a good cause will have an opportunity to do so as a collection will be taken during the evening. Those who fail to hear the gifted speaker will miss an address that will be both entertaining and instructive.

An eminent literary person, in suggesting Mrs. Foster, who lectures on temperance this evening for the Central Club course, said of her: "She is the best speaker of her sex whom I ever heard; she is withal a good and a great woman. Hear her and have others hear her all you can."

Our Own Folks and Other Folks.

Major J. Fenno returned on Saturday from his visit to Augusta.

Miss Mary Lowell, of Bucksport, is visiting friends in this city.

Mrs. E. J. Dresser, of Portland, is visiting friends at the Bangor House.

Mrs. C. A. Underwood, of Boston, is visiting the family of J. Woodbury, Esq., on Sixth street.

Mr. George B. Loring, of the firm of Loring, Short & Harmon, of Portland, is in the city on business.

Landlord A. J. Saunders, of the American House, Ellsworth, was in the city Saturday, at the Penobscot Exchange.

Chief Justice Peters and Court Reporter Ruel Smith, Esq., who are attending court in Dover, were in the city over Sunday.

Mr. W. H. Maling, of Brewer, who has been confined to the house for several days past, is improving and expects soon to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Cram, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gibson and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Prescott have returned from a visit to the Katahdin Iron Works.

Mr. Charles E. Pendleton, who has served so efficiently as clerk of Moosehead Inn, Greenville Junction, during the season, returned home on Saturday.

Miss E. M. Schellenger, the well known artist, of Portland, returned home Saturday from a two weeks' visit with Miss Jackman and Miss Sawtelle, at the Jerrard.

Mr. George H. Holtham left Saturday on his annual hunting trip to Mount Katahdin. If he has his usual luck, or rather if his skill meets its usual reward, he will come back well loaded down with game.

Judge Granville F. Hawes and his son, Emery Hawes, of New York, were at the Bangor House Saturday. Mr. Hawes was formerly a Corinth boy and holds pleasant memories of the old town and its people.

Mayor and Mrs. W. J. Webb, of Palatka, Fla., who have been visiting at the residence of Mrs. Webb's father, John H. Crosby, Esq., at Crosbyville, left Saturday on the afternoon train for their home.

Base Ball Notes.

The game Saturday afternoon at Lewiston, between the Lewistons and "Professionals" was decidedly queer in its results. The Lewistons won 6 to 4 but did not make a single hit during the nine innings, while their opponents made six with a total of eight. The Lewistons had their regular team and the Professionals were composed of Lewiston players and a few members of the Bates College team. The players were as follows:

Lewistons—Tebeau, rf, Lezotte, lf, McCarty, 1b, McManus, 3b, Reed, 2b, Carr, c, Kelly, ss, Montel, cf, Connors, p.

Professionals—O'Brien, ss, A. Lezotte, c., Pennell, cf, McManus, 1b, Kearins, p, rf, Putnam, lf, Hoffman, 3b, Wilson, 2b, E. Kelly, p.

Maine Foot Ball League.

A Maine foot ball league, not including the colleges, has been formed and quite a number of games will be played. The Rugby game in vogue among the college teams is not used, but the simpler game is played. The first game occurred Saturday between the Lewistons and the Saccarappas, in Lewiston, and the visitors won, five goals to two. The teams were made up as follows:

Lewistons—Gildard, goal, Larkin (Capt), right-back, Simpson, left-back, Mullaney, half-back, McReady, half-back, Campbell, half-back, Smith, forward, Hayes, forward, Rafferty, forward, H. Brown, forward, J. Brown, forward.

The game was under the association rules. The team work and passing of the Saccarappas, owing to their having played together longer, was far superior to that of the Lewistons. The Saccarappas got one goal in the first half and four in the second. The Lewistons got their two in the second half.

It is the first league of the kind to be formed in Maine, and it is expected that the games will awaken considerable interest, as the game is an exciting one when well played, and requires much skill. Now that the weather is too cold for base ball, foot ball, which thrives on the coolness of the autumn and early winter, will have its innings.
